

Since Indiana has adopted the telephone privacy law, it has been much better for our home life. We used to get 12-15 unsolicited and unwanted calls, now we only get a few on our unpublished telephone line. Our privacy law is not as strong as it should be in that we still get calls from insurance agents, charities, etc. but PLEASE do not weaken it any more than it already exists. Our privacy law is not as strong as it should be, but it is a LOT better than the one you are proposing for the national standard. Let the states govern themselves in some areas, and concern yourself more to national items such as security and foreign relations.
